Personal Profile

Whilst the world of music, games, film and broadcast can provide a high level of entertainment for the casual consumer, a much more vast and expansive world can be found through creative and constructive thinking. Finding this avenue to explore as a creative has indeed posed more questions than can be answered in a single lifetime. The obsession of wanting to know more that has taken me on a journey lead by finding new tools, techniques and theories that can be applied to my craft in order to further explore, innovate and progress beyond the limits of expectation. A highly driven and self-motivated individual with a genuine love for his craft and artform whilst bringing an open mind and selflessness in team orientated environments and tasks.
